(Special Cable Letter.)
LONDON, May 12.—Among the most persistent supporters of the government the question is being seriously debated, whether immediate dissolution is not the very best policy to be pursued in the present circumstances. The members of the National Liberal Club, the declaration of Lord Rosebery to the House of Commons, that he would not resign until he had a majority of two in the House of Commons do not represent the feelings of those gentlemen in their present moments and when from the influence of after-dinner enthusiasm, an experienced politician knows that the government cannot count upon passing the spirit bill, while the House of Commons is in the mood of the present session.

GOVERNMENT CONSULTATION.
The supporters of the Ministry on every hand now recognize the fact that it will be impossible to pass the election-taxes bill, the Welsh-church disendowment bill, and the registration bill within the time permitted by the present session, and in those circumstances it is proposed that when the Ministry recess the supporters of the government in the House of Commons shall meet the Ministry in consultation, with a view to determining the course to be followed in the future.

The radicals have already shown their hand to the extent of intimating that when the meeting takes place they will propose that those portions of the registration bill which have been dropped by the Conservatives be dropped. The Conservatives have already indicated the bill with about two hundred amendments, and there is no doubt that the Ministers will have no difficulty in obtaining the assent of the meeting to the proposal of the Ministry to recess the bill in order to enable the Ministry to determine the course to be followed in the future.

PARLIAMENTS IN OPPOSITION.
It is now a settled fact that the Parliament is committed to a policy of opposition to the government, and that the attitude of several Welsh members is extremely hostile, and that the whole of the government will be opposed to the bill. The radicals have already shown their hand to the extent of intimating that when the meeting takes place they will propose that those portions of the registration bill which have been dropped by the Conservatives be dropped.

Coal-Mining Extremism.
The English Liberals are greatly pleased by the announcement of the radicalism of the Irish party, the declaration of the Parliament to the government, and that they are to be kept in check, but the attitude of several Welsh members is extremely hostile, and that the whole of the government will be opposed to the bill. The radicals have already shown their hand to the extent of intimating that when the meeting takes place they will propose that those portions of the registration bill which have been dropped by the Conservatives be dropped.

THE BOOKS.
Mr. Smith Will Be Allowed to Examine the Voting-Lists.
AN ANIMATED DISCUSSION.
After More Than Two Hours' Debate the City Committee Voted to Permit the Inspection.

A called meeting of the City Democratic Committee was held last night to consider the letter of Mr. James C. Smith, who was a candidate in the late primary for the nomination for City Sergeant, and was defeated by Captain Charles H. Epps, asking to be permitted to examine the poll-books.

In order to get the matter promptly before the committee, Mr. Gibbons moved that Mr. Smith's request be granted. Mr. Landrum moved as a substitute that any man who was a candidate for nomination in the late primary be permitted to examine the books, saying that he had no objection to it, and that he would accept anything wrong, Mr. Gibbons accepted the substitute.

Mr. Wallace asked if Mr. Smith had stated whether he wanted to look, and whether he had said he suspected fraud. Mr. Patterson said Mr. Smith had made no intimation of fraud to his satisfaction.

DOUBTED ITS EXPEDIENCY.
Mr. Wallace doubted the expediency of opening the books to inspection. Candidates had had a week in which to make their demands. As he considered it an investigation could not be had without endangering the validity of the election.

TO SETTLE A DEB.
Captain Anderson said he had heard, though he did not wish to say, that Mr. Smith had been told that he was defeated by a majority. He was defeated by a majority, if that was the case, was unnecessary, if not impertinent. Were the committee and the members of the party to be asked to call of any one who wanted to settle an election, would it be a demand made at the last moment?

NOTICE OF CONTEST.
Mr. Landrum said Mr. Smith had asked for a contest. He had no objection to it, and he would accept anything wrong, Mr. Gibbons accepted the substitute.

HEARD BY EVIDENCE.
Mr. Phillips said Captain Anderson had talked of the customs of lawyers and the courts, yet he had introduced hearsay evidence, although he knew that such testimony was not taken. He would not take it, and he would not take it.

PUBLISH THE LIST.
Mr. Patterson said in answer to a question, that he saw no objection to the books being examined, and he thought there was a way to get their contents before the public.

SAW NO OBJECTION.
Mr. Patterson explained again that he had not changed his mind, as Captain Anderson had said. He was, of course, opposed to it, and he would not take it.

EXAMINE THEM.
The Anderson substitute was lost, and Captain Hall offered as a substitute for the Landrum motion that the five who had conducted an investigation or examination of poll-books requested by any candidate, and the sub-committee shall sit on Monday at 12 o'clock noon, at the headquarters of the party, to examine the books, and as they shall deem fit and proper. This committee expresses its belief that the election was an honest one, and that the evidence produced by the candidates was correct and true.
